

Contribution Journal

Steven – Steven helped the group by creating the repository and inviting each classmate so everyone could submit their completed .ipynb and reflection files. He also submitted his own work and was always ready to help other group members. He answered Antonio's questions and showed him how to collaborate with the group.

Cristian – Cristian accepted the repository invitation and uploaded all the required files that he completed on his own. He successfully completed his part of the submission.

Khin – Khin also accepted the repository invitation and uploaded all the required files that she completed on her own. She successfully completed her part of the submission.

Antonio – Antonio asked for help and actively joined the group discussions, showing that he was eager to participate. He contributed by creating a pull request and committing the required files to the branch. He successfully completed his part of the submission.